

TRIO

Ingenuity at Work

Designed for special applications where the projection of a regular lateral arm is limited by the available width, this Alutex exclusive retractable awning can extend beyond those limits by reaching up to 13' in projection in as little as 8' of width. This without compromising its elegant design.

Particularly useful in condominiums and narrow patio applications, Trio can be installed like any classical retractable lateral arm awning. No more need for eye soar overlapping arms. Its special design allows to virtually retracting its arms within the same space necessary to a regular lateral arm awning.
